

Most people, especially seasonal residents, are not aware of the impact of noxious weeds on agriculture, wildlife habitat, wildflowers and our scenic landscapes here in Colorado. In many instances, they may think weed species are pretty wildflowers.

We prefer that neighbors work with neighbors on weed issues. This helps build good relationships. However, if you are unable to contact your neighbor and help them to become aware of a weed problem, then the following contact information is provided if you see weeds that need control measures.
